Big Celebration at Stony Plain on Dominion Day.

The fates were kind to this town on Friday last, giving us just sufficient break in the rain storm to hold a very successful day at sports, in celebration of Canada's natal day, July 1st.

A crowd which exceeded expectations was present, and no doubt a large number stayed away who were not willing to take a chance on the weather. The train for Seba Beach brought a good crowd from the City; and the early train from the West brought the Evansburg contingent, including their celebrated baseball team; while those in the district turned out splendidly.

A Justifiable Postponement

The Directors of the Western Canada Colonization Association are to be commended for their action in postponing the actual work of bringing in settlers until they secure from the prairie provinces a reasonably firm price list of unoccupied lands available for sale. The Association will not be warranted in expending the large sum of money subscribed by its backers until it secures reasonable co-operation from the three Governments. It would be nothing short of a disaster if lack of action by the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Legislatures should prevent the use of this great fund for the general advantage of the Canadian West.

We look to see the forthcoming conference of prairie province Premiers agree upon some workable basis of action that will facilitate the operations of the Western Canada Colonization Association, as of other immigration agencies. The sooner the twenty million acres of idle land near the railways, now held out of production by more than eighty thousand individual speculators, is brought under the plow, the sooner will good times return, the burden of taxation be lightened and the National Railways achieve a self-supporting basis.

Remarkable Trip In Overland Car

Overland tours of 75,000 miles are not common among Canadian automobile owners but one was completed this month that took in territory from coast to coast, north as far as Edmonton and south to Lower California.

Mr. J. T. Pears, who was in business in Toronto for many years, undertook the trip chiefly for his health's sake and was accompanied by Mr. Roy M. Jones. After preliminary tours through Muskoka, Montreal and the Adirondacks to the Atlantic, they commenced their long trip by way of Chicago and St. Louis and then North again to Winnipeg. Crossing the Rockies through the Crows Nest Pass, they visited Vancouver and proceeded to Los Angeles.

Sleeping in the car every night proved a wonderful tonic, and they thoroughly enjoyed the trip, which was not marred by a single accident. They were always able to obtain gasoline and neither mountains nor deserts proved an obstacle to their "90" Sedan. After several months in California, every district being visited, Mr. Pears and Mr. Jones returned by the New Mexico and Colorado route, averaging about 125 miles a day.

They brought back two monkeys, one an Australian Java, the other a Philippine Ringtail, which were photographed on top of the car when driven up to the Toronto branch of the Willys Overland Company. The monkeys, Mr. Pears states are becoming accustomed to their new home very quickly.

Wind On the Stomach Quickly Relieved

It is a good thing to know just what to do when gas belching starts. One sufferer relates the following experience: "A few months ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruits that was not quite ripe. It brought on indigestion, hiccoughs, nausea and cramps. A neighbor urged me to use 'Nervine,' I took it in hot sweetened water, and got quick relief. I will never again be without this valuable remedy." Nervine is a household necessity. Large 3c bottles sold everywhere.

A Waste.

"Closest is the sluggest man I ever knew. He smoked his cigars to the last half inch, chewed the stumps and brushed his teeth with the ashes. Even then he wasn't satisfied and stopped smoking."

"Why?"

"He couldn't think of any way to utilize the smoke."

Benefit Derived From the Accredited Herd Plan for Control of Tuberculosis in Cattle.

A few years ago the United States breeders of pure-bred cattle, recognizing the necessity of more effective measures for the control of tuberculosis, arranged a conference with officials of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, the result of which was the adoption of what is known as the Accredited Herd Plan, meaning that the herd had been thoroughly tested and found entirely free from any symptoms of tuberculosis. The plan proved so successful (over a thousand herds being accredited in a brief period) that a decision was arrived at to adopt the system in Canada. Regulations were promulgated which came into force in September, 1919, and have proved gratifyingly successful, a number of herds having been accredited while many others are under test. There is now an agreement between Canada and the United States that cattle from accredited herds may enter either way, without detention or test.

THIN, WATERY BLOOD MEANS ILL HEALTH

Rich, Red Blood Brings Bright Eyes and Rosy Cheeks.

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired and ill will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale. She not only tires out easily but often suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found to have a beneficial action on the blood. Miss Delina Lafreniere, St. Ambrose, Man., has proved this in her own case, and advises others to use these pills. She says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt like a complete wreck of my former self. My blood was poor and thin. I suffered from 'pink puffs,' felt like a leaden backache and headaches almost every day. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and by the time I had used three boxes I felt much better and I continued taking the pills until I felt as well as I ever did. For what they did in my case I cannot recommend these pills too highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Air Harbor For Regina.

The establishment of a municipal air harbor at Regina is now all but an accomplished fact, and of two sites submitted by the city to the Canadian Air Force Association, the association selected one comprising about one hundred acres. All that remains to complete arrangements is the receiving and erection of the Bessoneau hangar, which has been reserved for Regina by the Canadian Air Board.

Will Traffic to Canada.

The drastic immigration restrictions which have recently come into effect in the United States will, it is thought, have a natural sequence in the diversion of the superfluous flow to Canada. Authorities are also of the opinion that the rigid enforcement of the act will result in the transferring of some of the vessels of the New York-trans-Atlantic fleet to the port of Montreal.

Manitoba Farmer Now So Strong He Can Put In Full Time at Work

"I was beginning to think I never would be myself again but Tanlac has put me back in as good health as I ever enjoyed in my life," said John Brown, well-known farmer of Saint Clair, Manitoba.

"I had a bad stomach and it had been troubling me for the past two and a half years. My appetite was fairly good; that is, I could eat but it looked like everything turned against me and brought on indigestion. Gas formed and would build me up something awful. I slept poorly, lost weight and got so weak I couldn't half do my work on the farm."

"Well, I'm mighty glad Tanlac came my way. I saw before I finished my first bottle that it was doing me good and now I feel as strong and healthy as I used to be years ago. My stomach never gives me any more trouble and I eat three good rousing meals a day like a hard working man ought to."

"I sleep fine, have picked up considerably in weight and can put in full time at work every day now. Tanlac gets all the credit for my good health today. To my way of thinking there is not a medicine that can compare with it."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

You will enjoy the flavor the reason is inside the package.

The Edmonton Band which had been engaged failed to connect. As the members didn't wish to travel on the train with a picnic crowd, and the trail being 'too muddy' for cars, they started for Stony in an aeroplane. Having lost their compass, they went on to Jasper, passing over the Fair Grounds three miles up.

The auto race had five entries, one of these being a speed-boat from a local garage, which was present with a new coat of paint and its bottom greased. Some exception was taken to the ad. which covered the boat, advising the public to "Bring their Bubbles to Bouncer", and the entry was promptly ruled out. The other entries were R. L. Ghiselin, Esq., M. B. McColl, Gus Zucht, and Geo. Schadeck.

The race was run in heats, best time for four laps, one car on the track at a time, and a very good exhibition was given. The result proved to be a tie between Ghiselin and Schadeck. After the race, a discussion took place on the question, What is a Ford car? Many and varied were the answers. Finally the legal adviser to the Football team was appealed to, who gave it as his opinion that a Ford car is "anything made of tin, to which four wheels are attached, annexed, or stuck on."

"The" race of the day occurred when the Farmers' Trot was called. Joe Buerlein had an entry, as also had Mr Knapp. An added starter was Major Dennis' beautiful dappled grey, "Pickles," driven by a prominent business man. "Pickles" had all the outward and visible signs of having just come off the farm, and, as he required lots of room, he stayed back by himself during the race. At that, "Pickles" was some race horse, as the judges donated him the first "for being the only horse which was trotting while passing under the wire."

Although the score of the baseball game appears rather one-sided, the game was not so bad as she looks, by the figures. The work of the local battery, Geo Brown and Ph Fuhr, was of the usual excellent character; but the work of the basemen and the fielders left much to be desired. The locals seemed unable to combine their play sufficient to score a run. The Evansburg team worked like clockwork.

Three football teams were present, to compete for the $10 prize. The first to engage were Rosenthal and Stony Plain. These two played full time without either scoring. On the play off Stony won, 1-0. At the end of the play, the winners were not in condition to engage with an other team, and the game with Spruce Grove was cancelled.

"Percy" from Spruce Grove was there, with his racer. In the race, the pony started with the rest of them, but something went wrong with the steering gear in the back stretch and the outfit went south. Percy and the Pony didn't get back to the judges' stand till the entries were called for the wheelbarrow race.

Entries were called for the sack race, relay race, egg race and bicycle race, but none responded, so these were called off.

In the basketball game, Spruce Grove did some excellent playing, and beat the Stony Plain combination by 4 to 1.

Stony Plain U. F. A. Convention.

At the U. F. A. Convention held in Ducholke's Hall on Tuesday to select a candidate to contest the riding, 23 delegates were present.

Two names were balloted on: Mr Welborne of Winterburn and W M Washburn of Stony Plain.

In his address to the delegates, Mr Welborne stated he was unable to promise his entire support to the Farmer party.

Mr Washburn, who is President of the U. F. A. local, promised his entire and undivided support, if elected.

On a ballot being taken M. Washburn got the nomination 12 to 11.

The four candidates running are—

Jacob Miller, Liberal.
F W Lundy; Conservative.
D Brox; Independent Farmers.

CHAPTER I.

The Beck of Fortune.

The last congratulations had been offered; the last good wishes, somewhat mixed with tears, had been expressed. The bride, glowing in the happy consciousness of her own beauty, and delirious by the great tenderness that enveloped her new estate like a golden mist, said her farewells with steady voice and undimmed eyes. Once only, when two frail arms drew her to the great mother-heart that was fighting with joy and unspoken sorrow through its travail of the soul, did their bright rays mingle and tremble like sun-shafts in a pool. It was for the moment only; one halting kiss on the cheek, white cheek; then, with uplifted head, she said good-bye, and the mother smiled upon her in a pride that was deeper than her pain. The bride, that had not feared, a generation back, to cross the seas and carve a province and a future from the forest, was not a bride to withhold its most beautiful and noble from the ventures of the greater West.

It had been a busy winter for John Harris, and this, although the consummation of his great desire, was but the threshold of new activities and new outlets for his intense energies. Since the face and form of Mary Allan had first captured him in his little backwoods school district, a vast ambition had possessed his soul, and to-day, which had seemed to be its end, he now knew to be but its beginning. The ready consent of his betrothed to his life in the unknown wilderness between the Red River and the Rocky Mountains had been a tide which, taken at its flood, might well lead him on to fortune. At the conclusion of his fall term he had resigned his position as teacher, and with his small savings had set about accumulating equipment essential to the homesteader. A team of horses, two cows, a few ducks, geese and hens; a plough, a wagon, a sleigh, a set of carpenter's tools; a gun, an axe, a compass, a chest of medicine, a box of books; a tent, bedding, spare clothing—these he had gathered together at the village store or at farmers' sales, and the doing so had almost exhausted the winter and his money. Because his effects were not enough to fill a car he had "doubled up" with Tom Morrison, a fine farmer whose worldly success had been somewhat less than his desert, and who bravely hoped to mend his broken fortunes where he might be paid for the taking. Their car had already gone forward, with Morrison's hired man nestling obviously in the hay, and two others hid under the mangers. When railways were invented they were excepted from the protection of the Eighth Commandment.

So John Harris and his bride took the passenger train from her city home, while their goods and chattels, save for their personal baggage, tumbled on in a box-car or crowded stolidly into crowded side-tracks as the exigencies of traffic required.

At a junction point they were transferred from the regular passenger service to an immigrant train. Immigrant trains, in the spring of 'eighty-two, were somewhat more less than they now are. The tourist sleeper, with its comfortable berths, its clean linen, its kitchen range, and its dusky attendant, restrained to an attitude of agreeable deference by the anticipation of a gratuity, was a grey atom of potentiality in the brain of an unknown genius. Even the colonial car, which has done noble service in later days in the propelling of the Prairie West, was only in the early stages of its evolution. The purpose of immigrant trains was to move people. To supply comforts as well as locomotion was an extravagance undreamed of in transportation.

The train was full. Every seat was taken; aisles were crowded with standing passengers who stumbled over bundles and vases with every rattle in the uncertain road-bed; women men fought bravely with memories too recent to be healed, and children crowded in lusty abandon or shrieked as they fell between the slippery seats. The men were making acquaintances; the communities from which they came were sufficiently interwoven to link up relationships with little difficulty, and already they were exchanging anecdotes in high hilarity or discussing plans and prospects with that mutual sympathy which so quickly arises among those who feel their fortunes together under strange conditions.

One or two of the passengers had already made the trip to Manitoba, and were now on the journey a second time, accompanied by their wives and families. These men were soon noted as individuals of some moment; they became the centre of little circles of conversation, and their fellow-immigrants hung in reverent attention upon every word from their lips. Their description of the great plains, where one might look as far as the eye could carry in every direction, their description of the treeless expanse of the vision, fell with all the wonder of the Arabian Nights upon the imaginations of the newcomers.

Stories of the trail, of Red River cart and team, of duck shooting by the prairie sloughs, the woe of the settler from their muzzle-loaders and the whistle of sharp wings against the sky; of the clatter of wild geese and the yelp of prairie wolves snapping up through the darkness; of thunder and lightning, of tempest and rain, of storm and blizzard and snow and cold—cold that crackled in the empty heavens like breaking glass and withered the cheek like fire; of Indians, none too certain, slipping like moose-skin ghosts down the twilight, or peering unexpectedly through cabin windows; of hardship and privation and struggle and courage and possibilities beyond the measure of the imagination—these fell from the lips of the favored oldtimers, punctuated with jest and prophecy and nicely timed intervals of silence.

And is there no stones there, or stumps?" asked a woman big of bicep and deep of chest from years of wrestling with the rocks and timbers of Laramie. "Has the bush not been cleared away?"

"Bush? There's no bush to clear. The prairie's as bald as yer tail—no reflection on 'yer cookin', na good woman, but so it is, except for the grass that tickles yer fingers as ye walk an' the pea-vine that up-ends ye when ye're no thinkin'. Bush! Ah've burnt more bush from ma ten-acre clearin' than ye'll find in a dozen counties. 'Deed, ye'll think a little more bush'd be a guid thing when ye leave yer house to build an' a hungry stove to keep roarin' from November to April."

"But wherby do they make their fences, if they ha' no cedar rails?" demanded the woman, still unconvinced. "Fences? An' why for would ye fence a farm, ye unsociable body? To keep the gophers out. Or to keep the badgers in! See, ye have all out-doors for yer cattle, an' the days of the buffalo are over, thanks to the white man's powder. An' shot, what would ye have with fences?"

"But are ye sure it has no been all ploughed some time?" persisted the woman, who could not bring herself to believe that Nature, unaided, had left great areas ready for the hand of the husbandman. A life of ravishment amid forests and rocks had sorely cramped her imagination. "Ah'm no saying for sure, but whoever ploughed it took a man's order. It will be a thousand miles long, Ah'm thinkin', an' nobody knows how wide. Pioneers like ye an' me ha' been workin' our hands off in Canada. It was a trick of the old-timers to think only of the Eastern Provinces as Canada, 'an' in a hundred years we have no cleared what's left of a garden patch to that farm out yonder. Ah'm thinkin' it was a bigger hand than yours or mine that did that clearin'."

"Tell us about the crops," said one of the men passengers. "What like wheat can ye grow?"

"Like corn," said the narrator, with great deliberation. "Heads like ears o' corn. What that grows so fast ye can hear it. Neatlin' uncommon to walk into wheat-fields when they's knee-high, an' have to fight yer way out like a jungle!"

"Is the Injuns werry big?" piped a little voice. "Ma pa's go'd to make me a home-arrow so I can kill 'em all up."

"That's a brave soldier," said the man, drawing the child to his knee. "But Ah know a better way to fight Indians than with bows an' arrows. D'ye want me to tell ye a story?"

"S' about Moses?"

"No, Ah ain't quite up-to-date on Moses, but Ah can tell ye a story about a better way to fight Indians than with bows an' powder. Ah fight 'em with flour an' blankets an' badger-meat, an' it's a long way better."

Settlement Reached In British Coal Miners' Strike

Hoped That New Relations Will Now Be Insanaged Between Capital and Labor.

London—The prolonged stoppage in the coal industry ends by a settlement reached when the government agreed to renew its offer of a subsidy of £10,000,000 to avert the hardships of the next three months, because of necessary wage reductions, thereby conceding the one condition required by the miners in the settlement reached between the miners and the mine-owners.

By the terms of the new arrangement, a wage basis will come into effect for the next eighteen months, whereby the miners receive 20 per cent. above the pre-war scale of wages, with an additional share of profits on an agreed percentage basis which will be regulated by the creation of a national board and district boards.

The settlement is only a slight modification of the terms the miners rejected by their last ballot, and covers the period up to September 30, 1922, but either side must give three months' notice of a desire to terminate the agreement.

Announcing the settlement in the House of Commons, Mr. Lloyd George justified the granting of the subsidy on the ground that the coal exporting districts were so hardly hit by the collapse of the export trade that, if economic conditions had full play, there would be unworkable reductions in wages.

The settlement, he said, was a great and promising experiment; no such principles had ever before been applied in such a vast scale in any industry. He was hopeful that it would inaugurate new relations between capital and labor, not only in coal but in other industries, and he believed that it was sincerely carried out with goodwill it would repay the nation for all the damage suffered through the dispute.

Germany to Return Railway Materials
Washington.—Germany has fulfilled her obligation to replace railway material taken by her armed forces from foreign countries during the war, according to advice received here in official circles. The Inter-Alleied Railway Commission demanded that Germany deliver five thousand railway cars to France and Belgium, of which the former country is to receive 1,500 and the latter 3,500.

Memnonites May Not Move

Little Prospect of Exodus From Manitoba This Year.

Winnipeg.—A local government official declared here upon his return from the Manitoba Memnonite settlement that there is little prospect of a movement of Memnonites to Mexico or any other country from the province. He stated that less than 100,000 acres of the 1,000,000 held by Memnonites in Southwestern Manitoba is listed for sale, and up to the present time none of this has been sold nor prospective buyers secured.

Victory for Farmer Candidate

Medicine Hat Bye-Election Gives Gardiner Sweeping Majority Over Government Candidate.

Medicine Hat.—The United Farmers of Alberta forces scored a sweeping political victory in the Federal bye-election here. Robert Gardiner, defeating Col. Nelson Spencer, the Government candidate, by a huge majority, which will probably reach the 8,000 mark when all the outlying polls are heard from. Spencer received majorities in only three or four polls of the 148.

It had been generally conceded that the farmers would poll a large vote in the country districts, but it was thought that the city of Medicine Hat would return a large majority for Spencer and that he would do more than break even in the smaller towns.

Develop Frozen Fish Trade

Urges Campaign to Sell Canadian Fish in Great Britain.

Ottawa.—An obstacle to the development of the trade in Canadian frozen fish on the British market is that during the open season for salmon in Great Britain, Canadian-frozen salmon is sold as English and Scottish, but in the closed season, from September to February, the demand languishes, as salmon is supposed to be a summer fish.

This information is contained in a communication from J. Forsythe Smith, Canadian trade commissioner at Liverpool, to the weekly bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce. Mr. Smith advises an advertising campaign to sell Canadian frozen fish in the British Isles. He states that fish weighing from 7 to 14 pounds find the best sale.

My First Dog Driving

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

I received orders in January of the year 1874 to start east with the Winter Packet of the Hudson's Bay Company and had purchased a nice team of young dogs with light carriages from a clerk who came in from Swan River. The packet man was a famous traveller and known far and wide as one of the best long distance runners "in the northwest." Poor Johnny Beads, like so many natives, did not stand civilization and went to his long home a year or so ago.

I had been a year in the Fort Garry sale shop and hated the confinement and had made application on several occasions to be sent inland (as all the area outside the Red River settlement was called in those days), but the matter dragged, and at last, on the day of my resignation, I had my way. So the longlooked-for time had come at last, and I was really off for the unknown interior next day. I slept mighty little that night, having waking dreams of great prairie stretches covered with buffalo, high mountains and huge forests, with lakes as big as inland seas, and above all, thousands of really wild Indians.

It seemed too good to be true. The morning came at last and what with delays in the office, closing up important despatches, it was after an early lunch before we left. I paid hurried good-byes to all my friends, and received a hearty hand clasp from Chief Factor John H. McTavish. He was at that time the uncrowned king of Fort Garry and was one of the best chiefs I ever had. His last words to me were: "If you don't like it in the north there is always a place for you here."

Johnny called "March!" and away we went. His dogs were a fearsome sight and very savage. They were called Brandy, Grog, Rum and Whiskey. They were all from the plains, were used to travois, and were as big as large timber wolves, with split ears, and black and white in color. Both my young dogs and myself treated them with the utmost respect—at a distance—and they evidently had a contempt for us as green horns. He was loaded entirely with mail matter and, of course, dog food and provisions on top of this. His only bedding was a single heavy box and was carefully made of the thinnest and lightest of wood and he H. B. Co. white blanket. The packet was to take them to Fort Carlton on the North Branch of the Saskatchewan. This was a distance of between five and six hundred miles, with many a long stretch of plain and but little wood here and there. Other packet carriers met him at Carlton, and on went the great Northern Packet, only reaching some of the furthest posts on last ice. The greatest care was always taken of the precious mail matter.

"My young train followed close behind me," said the great old Johnny studying my dog's gait from time to time. "The first stop made was at Poplar Point (an H. B. Post), and Mr. Chisholm was hospitable as usual; in fact, too much so, as it was getting dusky before we pulled out for Portage. Just as we were hitching up, Johnny, who by the way stuttered badly, said "B-b-boy, your Herod (my foregoer) hauls too hard in front, so I will put him in the middle of my team and give you Bub-bub-Brandy ahead!" well, I was green and knew no better, so he very quickly made the exchange, threw himself on his sled and was off like a flash. When I called, "March!" the dog sat down on the road and eyed me with a wicked look. I took a step towards him and shook my whip. His reply was to advance in my direction growling savagely, so I retreated. Well, I was in a quandary. Pride forbade me going in and asking for Chisholm's assistance. Suddenly I noted the fence, and taking a good fixed rail off it, crept up to the rear of the train, balanced the rail on end carefully, then, sighting behind me, Brandy's ear, let it fall. My aim was true, and it bowled him over. With dreadful howls he sprang to his feet and started after my companion at a gallop, I just managing to throw myself in the car. Catching up with Johnny at last, I noted he was shaking with merriment, and on stopping for a smoke, he said: "Bub-bub-boy, what did you do to Bub-bub-Brandy?" We had a great laugh over it, but in future I kept my own dogs.

We Meet at Bourgeois

We reached Portage about nine that night, and Mr. Jas. Hargrave made us very welcome as a next amongst Hudson's Bay men. Next day we camped at White Mud River, where there was one Jimmy Whiteaway, postmaster, and here we met my new chief, Factor Archie McDonald, king of the Swan River district. He was by no means prejudiced in favor of Canadians as far as the majority of the officers and men of the H. B. Co. at that time were Scotch, and very clamant at that. Johnny Beads started early next morning for his long trip across the plains and I accompanied Mr. McDonald and party on his inspecting trip. Up to this time I had an easy time with my light car, but conditions were changed and my dogs were loaded to capacity, so it was me for the road. Jeune-Homme, a young French half-breed, who was guide, fortunately took a fancy to the young tender foot, and at once christened me O-ge-mas-ES, meaning little clerk. He had overheard the bourgeois say, "Well, we will see what kind of stuff this little Canadian is made of and he can head the party tomorrow."

It was a good thing for me the day was a short one, only some thirty miles, as I was running the whole distance. If you want to know what it was like, just watch a dog trotting beside a rig and you follow him and keep that up for forty miles. Luckily for me the track was hard and snow-shoes not needed. Oh, boy, but I was tired that night and my legs cramped with the unusual exertion, and it seemed that just about the time I fell asleep the call was made to get up again. This was my first introduction to an abominable habit customary with the big men of the company at that period. The guide called all hands between three and four in the morning, dogs were hitched and away we went, the bourgeois at once going to sleep in his car, while my poor beards trotted along. There was no sign of daylight; it was very cold, and our stomachs were fairly grinding for something to eat. In my own case I was stiff and sore from the unusual exertions of the day previous. I also had a sharp pain in one heel. Would daylight never come. Talk about an appetite, mine was like a piping wolf. Well, after a long three hours, the guide called a halt, a huge fire was made and we runners breakfasted mightily on bannock and raw pemican, with oceans of black tea. I told Jeune-Homme on the quiet that my heel was stinging me, and he at once pulled off my moccasins and socks. There was a crack in the hard skin of the heel over an inch long; and this would naturally open every step I took. "Oh, boy," he exclaimed, "I will soon fix that!" Taking off his fur cap, in the crown of which was a square needle (really a three-cornered glove's) threaded with deer sinew, and holding my foot tightly, he put in three or four stitches. He then covered it with spruce gum, placed some cotton on this, and it bothered me no more. I remembered this recipe and used it afterwards on many occasions.

A Negligee Of Coral Handkerchief Linen

By Marie Belmont.

Cool and inviting is this dainty negligee for summer days. It is fashioned from coral handkerchief linen, although you might develop it in any other shade you desire. If you preferred you might even use a pastel shade of satin or combine two shades of chiffon. It is cut all in one piece and an oblong piece is removed so that the negligee may be slipped over the head. This is outlined with coral embroidery. The sides are similarly adorned. They are fastened together under the embroidery to a point just beyond the waistline. About the shoulder the linen falls in pleasing lines. The satin sash and net finish add to the beauty of this model.

Where World Gets Lumber

Canadian Vessel Clears Vancouver With Over Five Million Feet of Ties and Lumber for Japan.

The biggest cargo of lumber that ever sailed from the port of Vancouver left recently on the Canadian Government steamer, Canadian Highlander. She had aboard 5,100,000 feet of ties and lumber for globe, Taku Bar and Nuchang, Japan. There have been many three and four million foot cargoes sent from Vancouver in the past few years, and the Canadian Robert Dollar Company's big steamer, Robert Dollar, sailed recently from Puget Sound with 6,000,000 feet, but only 3,200,000 of this was loaded at Vancouver. One of the Coghlan steamers, operated by that company, took 4,800,000 feet last year, and that was the record until the Canadian Highlander's cargo.

Grading of Dairy Products

The Proposed Grading Regulations Apply to Export Only.

A bill to standardize the grading of dairy products has been introduced in the House of Commons. Replying to questions, Dr. Toynbee said the proposed grading regulations would apply to export only. A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less unsteady.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Mrs. James Perry, Retlaw, Alta., writes: "Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days and my whole system there was in me, and when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better I quit them. Now I take them at intervals, and am fine almost 72 years of age."

MONDAY NIGHT'S MEETING

The meeting called for Monday night last at Du cholke's Hall, on behalf of the Liberal candidate, Mr Miller, was called off, owing to the non appearance of the Hon Frank Oliver and R E McLaughlin.

The hall was then engaged by Mr Brox, the Independent Farmers' candidate; and Mr W M Washburn acted as chairman to the meeting.

The first speaker to bat was Mr Joseph Adair, of Edmonton, who gave a very interesting dissertation on various matters now before the public. The big subject with Joe was Natural Resources, of which we have heard a great deal for some time. Joe spoke on it from both ends, and from the middle out. He denounced the Autonomy Act and all its works, the Government in power at Ottawa at the time it was passed, and the Government which succeeded it in 1911, one of whose pre election pledges was remedial legislation giving the Province its resources.

The speaker piled up the total figures which the Province loses every year to quite an alarming extent, until we began to think, with Geo Bevington, there weren't that much money.

At the close of his remarks it was brought to the notice of Mr Adair that John R Boyle, the Attorney General, had been working on the matter of Alberta's Natural Resources for a number of years, and had attended several conferences at Ottawa of the Premiers of the Western Provinces, at which this matter was discussed.

In replying to this, Mr Adair didn't seem to place much confidence in the proceeding, or that the desired results would accrue from it.
When asked for a remedy, well—the reply sounded like a suggestion that Westerners resort to arms, to have their grievances remedied.

This suggestion didn't seem to please those present, and someone accused the Hon.
Joe of being a Bolshevik.

Mr Brox next took the platform and gave his candid opinion of the Municipal District Act and related the difficulties the Councilors of some districts experience in working under its regulations.
Mr Brox suggested that the Act be amended at the next session to make it fairly workable. The speaker touched on the question of Natural Resources of course and suggested a remedy which would be of benefit to this Province.

By this time the audience was getting pretty well posted on this all important matter, and learning how we are being robbed of millions every year by the iniquitous Government at Ottawa. Us farmers were also told this was the explanation for the alleged oppressive taxation under which we are supposed to stagger; why we pay a nickel amusement tax; and why we only get 12c a dozen for our eggs.

On invitation, Mr J Miller, the Liberal candidate, gave a brief outline of the platform on which he was running;
and in a convincing manner spoke of the needs of the constituency, and his willingness to have these attended to, if elected. He also gave a rebuttal to the carking critics, who see no good in anything, and whose policy appears to be to pull down what others have done. Mr Miller was listened to intently, and received a hearty round of applause at the close of his remarks.

The chairman, Mr Washburn, was called on for a few remarks, and in the course of his speech covered the ground pretty thoroughly in explaining what the United Farmers stood for and what good will be accomplished in the Province when their policies are adopted.

A real estate broker, known locally, was present and made the speakers toe the mark regarding what he considered any rash statements made.

The hall was well filled and the audience gave a good hearing to all which was said by the principal speakers and also to the short-order orators who happened to be present.

The meeting closed by the audience singing the National Anthem.
